

Christopher Bruce, Chief Broking Officer, National Casualty – Aon

Christopher Bruce was named Chief Broking Officer, National Casualty with Aon in 2024. Prior to his current position, Chris held the position of Managing Regional Director at Aon. Chris started his insurance career at The Hartford in 2007, and has since had extensive experience in the insurance industry as an Account Executive, an Insurance Broker, and in leading a team of Senior Casualty Brokers. Chris has been successful to integrate data and analytics into his practice to achieve data driven results for clients. Christopher currently resides in New York City.