

Joanne Moynihan is the Vice President of Workers Compensation Claim Product Development and Strategy at Travelers. She leads cross-functional teams in innovation, product opportunities, analytics, and loss cost management. With extensive leadership experience, she directs the workers compensation claim analytics team, developing tools to diagnose loss cost drivers and collaborating with actuaries. Joanne also manages the national workers compensation major case unit, focusing on catastrophic and large loss files. Her strategic initiatives include advancing digital and analytic capabilities for straight-through processing and severity identification.